THE electoral college met yester day at the capitol and cast the ten votes to which Tennessee is entitled for Grant and Colfax. No question was made as to the eligibility of Mr. Senter, one of the electors for the State at large, who is interdicted from serving as elector by the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, and we presume he did not care to make the question himself. This incident illustrates the light manner in which the laws sit upon Radicals in this State. A Radical can do any thing in Tennessee forbidden by the laws with perfect impunity.

THE House of Representatives passed a bill vesterday on its second reading increasing the salary cal party. These journals admit, of Judges of the Supreme Court to that this law makes the President 85,000; that of the Governor to simply the "Recording Secretary of $4,000, and that of the Secretary of Congress," but that they prefer to State, Comptroller and Treasurer hold out the advantage it gives to $4,000—the fees now received their party until they are satisfied by these latter officers to be paid that Grant will pursue the policy into the treasury. The House also | chalked out by Congress. " Delta. passed on its second reading a bill the well informed Washington corto give the members of the Legis- respondent of the Baltimore Sun, lature $500 per annum and $5 for states that although Congress will every twenty-five miles traveled in be disposed to give the new Presigoing to and returning from the dent as much money as he or his seat of government. Mr. Prosser, of Davidson county, offered a bill proposing amendments to the constitution of the State, The provision of the constitution under which Mr. Prosser proposes to amend that instrument is contained in the third section of the eleventh article and is as follows:

"Any amendment or amendments to this constitution may be proposed in the Senate same shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each of the two journals, with the year and mays thereon, six months previous to the time of making such choice. And if in the General A+ sembly next chosen aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the General Assembly to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people, in such manner and at such time as the General Assembly shall prescribe. And if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments, by a majority of all the citizens of the State voting for Representatives voting in their favor, such amendment or smendments shall become part of this constitu-

> THE FLECTORAL COLLEGES On yesterday, the first Wednesday in December, the Electoral the hands of carpet bagger Colleges of the various States met and performed their part in the election of the President.

The vote is east by ballot, and, after the votes are counted, several copies of the record are made. One is sent by mail to the President of the Senate, at Washington; another, we believe, is deposited in the State archives, while a special messenger, who may be either one of their own body or an outsider, is delegated to carry it to Washington personally. This messenger receives, while on member of Congress. With this an array of figures to fortify this precaution there is not much danger, therefore, of the vote of any Comptroller's statement of the de-State failing to arrive at Washington by the time the general count is made by Congress, on the second Wednesday in February. The office of messenger from any of the Pacific States is quite a valuable position. On the day above specified the United States Senate proceeds to the Hall of the House of Representatives, and its President takes his seat by the side of the Speaker. The tellers are then appointed, and the sealed packages from the Electoral Colleges are then opened, usually commencing with the State of Maine. After the roll of States has been called, the result is declared by the President of touching the tenure-of-office law and the suffrage question. A number of Radical journals have opposed the repeal of the tenureof-office law. They admit that it was passed to take power from President Johnson, and to prevent him from aiding the Southern people in their efforts to re-establish constitutional governments in the States that have now been reconstructed in the interest of the Radipondent has "good authority for saying that they will reject the demand for the repeal of the

THE TENURE-OF-OFFICE AND UNI-VERSAL SUFFRAGE. There is a great deal of specula

NATIONAL FINANCES.

The Forty-first Congress cannot escape a grappling with that ques tion which of all others requires the highest order of practical states manship. The party in power has postponed and temporized with financial questions for three years It has kept the public mind agitawith other questions, as a means of diverting attention from this knotty problem. But it cannot be delayed longer. The people demand some wise and wholeson legislation which shall gave stability to values, and establish trade or a basis of sound political economy The leaders of the dominant party perceive there can be no further delay in the adjustment of this question, and are preparing to

Senator Morton of Indiana, who is not a statesman, but has vigorous intellect, a strong individuality, and great influence his party, has utterance to purposes. His views on the subject of finance have been frequently expressed at various intervals and in different places since the close of the war, and they have not been consistent either. Within the past year, he has been for and against the Pendletonian or greenback policy. He is, however, far-seeing enough to discern that the great, absorbing question of the day, when the more ephemeral topics that occupied attention have passed away from public consideration, will be the disposition of the national China, Bohemian Glassware debt, the resumption of specie payments and the lessening of the burden of taxation. To the measures ecessary to accomplish these ends he has especially directed the current of his thoughts, and we may be prepared to expect a very elaborate financial discussion immediately after the organization of Congress What with Senator Morton and his plan for the easy resumption of pecie payments, Senator Sherman, with another for the gradual fundng of the debts, Senator Corbett, with his own original scheme for abstituting gold certificates in place of coin for the payment of ustoms dues, and a score of Senaors besides, each with his own paricular panacea for the financial ills to which the country is subject, the debates which are sure to arise will be of the most intricate and bewildering character.
